

NO. NOT IN CITY HALL PARK!

THE MUNICIPAL BUILDING SPECTRE
BEGINS TO MOVE OFF.

Mayor Grant Suggests a Public Hearing of Suggestions About the Site, and the Commissioners Appoint It for Next 6.

Mayor Grant did not get back to town yesterday, but a letter from him was read at the meeting of the Commission for the erection of the new municipal building in the park. The members of the Commission present listened with much interest to the letter, which GENTLEMEN: Before the final selection of a site for the new Municipal building, I feel that it would be eminently proper to take into serious consideration the opposition which has been manifested to the erection of any additional structures in the City Hall Park.

In my annual messages to the Common Council I brought this matter to the attention of the Aldermen, in the hope that it would provoke a discussion, which would enlighten the Legislature and the local authorities upon the state of public opinion with reference to this sub-

[illegible]

On motion of Comptroller Myers it was unanimously resolved that such a public hearing be held on Wednesday, Sept. 4, at 2 P. M. in the Mayor's office. The time for the consideration to be sent in was extended from August 1 to Oct. 1.

Obituary.

John B. Armstrong, the minstrel manager and performer, is dead at Augusta, Ga. his home. In 1846 he and his brother organized a burnt-corn troupe bearing their name, and for several seasons it made money in the South. Afterward it encountered adversity and was disbanded. Since then Mr. Armstrong had not been active in theatricals.

ence, died this Sunday at the residence of her father, Joseph Fleischman, known to the neighbors as "Uncle Sam," aged extensively.

Prof. Benjamin Owen, who died at Champaign, Mich., several days ago, was in early life a protégé of Jenny Lind, to whom he was introduced by her pastor, and adopted as a brother. He afterward travelled with O. A. Bull, Carl August Koenig and others. As a composer he ranked with the best of his time, and was a member of the Swedish Academy. He was a native of Sweden, and was born in 1820, receiving his musical education in that country.

Peter McCusker, an old volunteer fireman, died at his residence, No. 100 West 12th street, at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. He was a member of Peabody's Engine Company, No. 1, and was also a very popular member of Council 1, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

William B. Martin died on Monday at 701 Madison street, Brooklyn, aged 65. He was chief engineer of the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The John Kendrick of Marietta College, Ohio, died yesterday aged 60 years. He was a graduate of Simon Fraser at Hartwood, and went west to take a professorship at Kenyon College. In 1904 he was elected to the presidency of the University of Chicago. He was a Methodist bishop. J. Miss Kendrick of New Mexico is his son.

May Aldermen Are Not City Officers.

Alderman Walker, who is not entirely free from Senatorial ambition himself and would willingly be elected to that office, has been told by one of the other Aldermen who visited the City Hall yesterday, that he declared that the constitutional prohibition against electing city officers to the legislature does not include Aldermen. Frank Alderman does not have to resign to run for the Senate.
